Mary Cummings : Hurricane in the Hamptons, 1938 (NY) (Images of America) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Hurricane in the Hamptons, 1938 (NY) (Images of America):

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Very detailedBy Dale HarrisonToo detailed. This happened so long ago the homeowners that were mentioned probably at the time were household names but to me it would have been nice to elaborate on who they were. The homes were so beautiful to look at.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy CustomerA must read! 5-stars.3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. A well done bookBy Louis AllynThis book is one of the Images of America series and is a very good value. It contains a wide variety of pictures of the Great New England Hurricane of 1938 with very well written accompanying text.

The 1938 hurricane, the most severe and terrifying storm to hit Long Island in living memory, struck on September 21, a day that had dawned bright and fair in the seaside communities between Westhampton Beach and Montauk Point. Unaware of the storm whipping itself into a frenzy just miles away, village residents were going about their normal tasks when it struck, killing more than 30 and wreaking unprecedented destruction before nightfall. In Hurricane in the Hamptons, 1938, the story is told in more than 150 photographs, most of them taken by stunned residents in the immediate aftermath of the storm.

About the Author Mary Cummings was born and raised in Southampton and is the author of Arcadia Publishing's Southampton. She has been an associate editor of the Southampton Press and is a trustee of the Southampton Historical Museum. Her interest in the images and stories collected in Hurricane in the Hamptons, 1938 dates back to her childhood, when she listened to the accounts of those who had lived through the storm.
