Designed for undergraduate courses on inequality, this reader is the first and only one to incorporate political inequality into the discussion of social stratification. With the ideal balance of classic essays and more contemporary studies, Inequality and Society covers the standard themes of poverty and inequality while bringing political institutions into the analysis.

About the Author Jeff Manza is Professor of Sociology at New York University and is coauthor of the acclaimed Locked Out: Felon Disenfranchisement and American Democracy. He has also published works on welfare states, political polls and policies, and political party coalitions.
