Craig Kielburger, Marc Kielburger : The Power of We Day: Moving the World from Me to We before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Power of We Day: Moving the World from Me to We:

A celebration of famous social activists, as well as the remarkable young people committed to making the world a better place. We Day is the only place in the world where you can find the Dalai Lama, Jennifer Hudson, and Magic Johnson rubbing elbows with Nobel Peace Prize laureates and former heads of state along with tens of thousands of student volunteers all dedicated to building a better world. This candid, visually stunning book captures it all. In The Power of We Day: Moving the World from Me to We, with a foreword by Mikhail Gorbachev, celebrated pop culture icons, social activists, and world leaders come together to talk about the causes they care about most. This book shares heart-warming stories, inspiring words, and stunning behind-the-scenes photos of world-renowned musical artists, statesmen, and speakers. The Power of We Day also celebrates unsung heroes; the remarkable young people who have made it their mission to make the world a better place.
