Cati Coe : The Scattered Family: Parenting, African Migrants, and Global Inequality before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Scattered Family: Parenting, African Migrants, and Global Inequality:

Today's unprecedented migration of people around the globe in search of work has had a widespread and troubling result: the separation of families. In The Scattered Family, Cati Coe offers a sophisticated examination of this phenomenon among Ghanaians living in Ghana and abroad. Challenging oversimplified concepts of globalization as a wholly unchecked force, she details the diverse and creative ways Ghanaian families have adapted long-standing familial practices to a contemporary, global setting.

In this fine-grained ethnographic work, Coe teases apart the microlevel lived experiences of families spread across borders. Overall, she has written a compelling account that is empirically and theoretically rich while successfully capturing the complexities of the lives of families spread across borders and the opportunities and sacrifices that entails.
