Claire Frances Ullman : The Welfare State's Other Crisis: Explaining the New Partnership Between Nonprofit Organizations and the State in France (Indiana University Center on Philanthropy Series in Governance)

before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Welfare State's Other Crisis: Explaining the New Partnership Between Nonprofit Organizations and the State in France (Indiana University Center on Philanthropy Series in Governance):

"This book provides useful insights into recent changes in the French welfare state and raises a wide range of questions concerning the relationship between the state and civil society in France." H-STATE Reviews In a striking new view of privatization and the modern state, this book recounts the involvement of nonprofit organizations in the implementation of socialist policy in France during the 1980s.

About the Author Claire F. Ullman received a Ph.D. in political science from Columbia University in 1995. She has taught at Barnard College and the Wharton School and has been a fellow at the Brookings Institution's Center for Public Management.
